Government Partnership Initiatives Waseela -e- Taleem (WET)

NCHD has made significant progress toward achieving enrollment targets at both the district and provincial levels, largely due to the effective deployment of a skilled and dedicated field workforce. This progress has been strengthened by robust social mobilization, strong supervisory systems, close inter-organizational coordination, and a well-organized data reporting mechanism.

To share progress and address operational challenges particularly those related to SIM cards and tablets, NCHD district management conducts regular monthly coordination meetings with BISP officials. These meetings have greatly enhanced collaboration on key operational areas, including staff deployment strategies and the data entry process.

EDUCATION is more than words It's readiness for LIFE

Tree Plantation Campaign Spring 2026

Each year Tree plantation campaign is organized by NHCD twice initially in the month of March with the aim to promote environmental awareness and encourage plantation activities among the community, students and staff. The importance of trees is highlighted in protecting the environment and creating a healthy ecosystem, so far 16,230 plants have been planted. A number of activities are arranged across the country in each district, a few are being shared:

Campaign in UC Phulgran
Bhara Kahu, Islamabad

College of Agriculture and Management Sciences Khairpur

Campaign at Government School
Sawabi-KPK

Sapling collected from
Forest Department, Pishin

The plantation activities were carried out at educational institutions, public parks, government offices, community spaces, and other public locations with the support and active participation of NCHD district teams, VCD volunteers, students, teachers, community members, district administration, the education department, and other partner organizations.

Provision of Teaching Learning Materials in Community Schools & ALP Centers; Islamabad

NCHD regularly distributes Teaching Learning Materials (TLM) to support quality education in its community-based schools.

These materials are essential because most NCHD community schools operate in low-resource settings with limited infrastructure. From textbooks aligned with the Single National Curriculum to pencils, notebooks, and innovative classroom aids, every tool is meticulously curated to spark curiosity and fuel young minds. Teachers are empowered with guides, lesson plans, and assessment tools, ensuring a seamless learning experience.

The focus is on quality learning alongside access. NCHD has held consultative meetings with partners (TCF, ITA, ACTED, etc.) to introduce innovative, low-cost TLM and classroom models. In some cases, development partners (JICA, UNICEF, NGOs) supplement NCHD's efforts with additional materials or digital content.
